

WAS THERE A DEAL?

Millions of words of speculation about the inside story of the MacArthur dismissal already have been written, and the flood is still rising.

Nothing has so stirred the American people for a generation. In addition to the drama of the event, and to the great importance of what has taken place, there is also the great and imagination-stirring mystery of precisely what happened.

It is inevitable that there should be conjecture, in view of the fact that it has long been a fixed policy of the Truman regime to tell the public no more than it has to about what goes on, and not always to be too carefully truthful about what it does reveal.

There is a line of speculation which, despite the volume already issued, does not yet appear to have been touched upon; and because of its very considerable importance it may well be pointed out here.

This has to do with a number of apparently unrelated events, and the possibility that they have a very close connection not yet definitely established.

Here is the crux of the matter—the key question:

"Was the firing of MacArthur the pay-off to the CIO unions which led them, only a few days ago, to reverse their previous stand on the Truman wage-price program, and resume their membership in the top-level control machinery?"

Conceding at once that there is not going to be any proof available for such a theory, up to the time when some insider breaks down and admits it, there nevertheless is some most interesting supporting evidence.

To begin with, there has been no earlier explanation of what the union leaders got out of the Administration which led them to reverse themselves and go back to being part of the official Truman family.

It is true that a series of so-called concessions can be compiled, but this list is unconvincing. The unions still do not have control of the membership of the advisory boards, they have few more concessions on wages than they had previously, and if they have been given veto power over Defense Mobilizer Wilson, the method by which this is to be done has not been explained.

The easiest guess as to the labor bosses' return to the White House set-up is that President Truman promised them something not yet revealed. What could this be? Obviously, something of considerable value to them, something which would let them re-establish their waning influence by bragging privately of their prowess.

The opposition of the radical wing of labor to MacArthur has been long and bitter.

Superficially, this is blamed on a pamphlet bearing

TOKYO, Apr. 14 — (INS) — Van-guards of three-quarters of a million Communist troops probed for a weak spot in United Nations lines all along the Korean front today in what may be the prelude to their long-expected spring offensive.

Field dispatches said heavily reinforced Chinese and North Korean forces launched powerful counter-attacks on the west, central and eastern fronts but were hurled back with heavy casualties.

Dispatches from Eighth Army headquarters said the Reds lost 4,275 men killed or wounded Saturday in comparison with 3,900 for both the two preceding days.

International News Service war correspondent Rafael Steinberg, reporting on one of eight slashing counter-attacks, said it "was apparent the enemy was feeling out UN positions for a weak point through which they might hurl a strong force."

HIROHITO TO PAY UNPRECEDENTED CALL ON GENERAL

MacArthur Completing His Preparations for Return To The U. S.

VISIT IS TOMORROW

Predict Emperor Will Ignore Protocol and Bid Personal Farewell

By Howard Handelman

Far Eastern Director, INS
TOKYO, Apr. 14 — (INS) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur was completing preparations today for his return to the United States and was expected to receive an unprecedented call from Emperor Hirohito before leaving Monday morning.

The five-star American general—abruptly relieved of all his commands by President Truman—plans to receive Hirohito tomorrow for the 11th and last time.

American and Japanese sources refused to confirm the information about Hirohito's visit but qualified observers predicted the Japanese Emperor will ignore protocol and bid a personal farewell to MacArthur.

International News Service was told that MacArthur has reserved a half-hour Sunday to receive Hirohito.

An authoritative source told International News Service that MacArthur has not scheduled a meeting with John Foster Dulles, State Department adviser, who is arriving in Tokyo Sunday night. Dulles is drawing up plans for a Japanese peace treaty.

LANGHORNE COUNCIL IN MONTHLY SESSION

Discuss Insurance, New Streets and The Zoning Ordinance

HEAR POLICE REPORT

LANGHORNE, Apr. 14 — At the meeting of Borough council held last evening in the council chamber it was decided to investigate the insurance coverage on borough property and increase the same. Paul B. Bennett, president of council, presided.

Chief of Police William E. Arnwine reported sixteen "stop" sign violations; one reckless driving; one illegal parking; one complaint of men in a car trying to pick up girls; one accident in the borough; one larceny of a car radio. He said he is receiving complaints about a lot of reckless driving around the schools; complaints also of firecrackers being thrown from cars in the borough.

Chief Arnwine said that Beryl Rolly parked his car in front of his house on April 8 at about nine p. m. and when he came out to use it the morning of April 9th, the car had been broken into and the radio taken.

Burgess George Mather reported that a number of residents had asked him about building new roads in different sections of the borough. If this was done there would be a lot more building of houses in the areas that can still be built up. The borough needs more income and this would be one way of getting it. The more houses built means more taxes for the borough.

Council informed the burgess that the borough was not permitted to go in and open streets in a real estate development. It is up to the property owners to have the streets cut through.

Ralph C. Wells, building inspector, reported that a permit had been issued for a building on Watson avenue.

Councilman John R. May reported that he had received a lot of complaints about the way the zoning ordinance is violated. Also a lot of people have been asking questions about the zoning ordinance.

The zoning ordinance and the way it works was discussed by the members of council. It was stated that the reason a lot of people think the zoning ordinance is not being followed is because when a public hearing is held on any problem of the ordinance, the only ones who come to the hearing are the committee and the interested parties. The public never attends and they are the ones who should attend as that is why public hearings are held.

Arthur S. Walker, chairman of the property committee, reported he had received a report from the borough insurance agent that the insurance coverage on borough property should be increased as it amounts to only $25,000 on the

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

The fellow who wrote the piece titled "The Terrible Tempered Harry S. Truman" for the current Cosmopolitan magazine was only one example behind.

Just as the magazine was hitting the stands Harry was taking his blood pressure again and deciding it was high enough to bounce MacArthur.

Some wondered that the General wasn't on the list of persons to be busted in the nose by the "Mighty Atom" at a later date. . . . It turns out he had priority to be kicked in the shins immediately.

Europe's capitals are all reported enthusiastic about the dumping of MacArthur. . . . That's enough to make many Americans suspicious.

The attitude of Europe has been "Keep this war confined to Korea, make it as American as possible and how can we lose?"

Anyway, suggestions for impeaching the President prove once more that an unusual man sits in the White House. . . . How many other Presidents since Johnson could take that claim?

Invitations have been issued to 85 guests to attend a dinner scheduled at one o'clock today in the Wedgewood room of the Hotel Hildebrecht, Trenton, N. J. An orchestra will provide dance music. Eternal Spirit, Who hast declared in Christ Jesus that they who worship Thee must worship in spirit and in truth: Let Thy presence rest upon Thy Church throughout the world. That we may render unto Thee a worship worthy of Thy glory, create in us clean hearts and renew in us a right spirit. Grant that Thy Church may ever remember that hers is not to the honor of men but to the glory of God. In the Name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a gown of white slipper satin. The bodice was tight fitting with an off-shoulder neckline of illusion outlined with a rennaissance lace and rhinestone motif over a wide flange of satin. There was a standup motif of lace in the center front neckline. The sleeves were long and pointed at the wrists. The full skirt was worn with a hoop, and had a cathedral train. The same lace motif was used on the left front of the bodice and this extended almost to the hemline. A pearl and rhinestone crown held the finger-tip veil of illusion which was scalloped and outlined with rennaissance motifs. She wore white satin slippers. For the professional bride carried a white prayer book on which rested a white orchid with white streamers. This was exchanged at the altar for an old-fashion bouquet of white roses for the recessional.

Mr. Riebel chose as his best man John Coyne, Croydon, and ushers were Mr. Michael Hall, and Mr. Harry Riebel, the bridegroom's brother. A dinner was served to the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents with a reception at six p. m. in Goodwill Fire Co. hall.

For the ceremony, the mother of the bride chose a gown of white metalasse, white hat with navy trim, navy blue topper and slippers. Mrs. Riebel wore a polka dot dress of navy blue with navy accessories. Both wore red rose corsages.

The former Miss Storms chose a light grey suit for her honeymoon. Hat, topper and gloves were of navy, and she had red leather shoes and bag. She wore an orchid. Upon their return from a two weeks motor trip through southern states, the newllyweds will reside in an apartment on Wilson avenue. The bride is employed in the office of Paterson Parchment Paper Co. Both Mr. and Mrs. Riebel are graduates of Bristol High school. Mr. Riebel is employed by Rohm & Haas Co.

en-crown picture hats of lace with red velvet streamers and white slippers. They carried large, colonial bouquets of red roses.

Barbara Ann Pryor, daughter of the matron of honor, wore a shepherdess dress of white taffeta, the skirt of which was shirred and corded. The sleeveless bodice featured an off-shoulder effect with a full ruffled flange, outlined with a spray of variegated pastel flowers. White lace gauntlets were also worn. The open-crown bonnet of white taffeta had small sprays of orange blossoms on the facing. This was tied under the chin with red velvet streamers. White slippers were worn, and she carried a small colonial bouquet of the red roses.

Mr. Gerald Gartner and Mr. Joseph Gartner, brothers of the bride, were best man and usher, respectively. William Gartner, nephew of the bride, as ring bearer, carried a white satin heart-shaped pillow on which rested the two wedding bands.

A breakfast was served to 75 members of the families at the Gartner home. A reception will be held at six p. m. in St. Thomas Aquinas hall with 200 guests expected. Members of a Phila. string band will furnish music for dancing.

For her honeymoon trip to Canada, the former Miss Gartner will wear a dacia suit, matching straw hat, brown alligator slippers and bag, white blouse and gloves. She will wear an orchid corsage. They will make their home temporarily with the bride's parents. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rentko, Philadelphia, graduated from Missouri School of Mining and Metallurgy, a branch of the University of Missouri. He is a veteran of four years service in the U. S. Navy during World War II, and is employed at the Carl Lieberknecht Mills, in Reading. A graduate of John W. Hallahan high school Philadelphia, class of '42, the bride is employed in the procurement division of the Naval Aviation Supply Depot.

To the small flower girl, the former Miss Gartner presented a gold cross and chain, and to her other attendants she gave a gold brooch.

For the ceremony, Mrs. Gartner, the bride's mother, wore a navy blue crepe dress, navy blue hat trimmed with pink, and pink gloves. She wore a red rose corsage. Mrs. Rentko, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a black suit, black and white hat, white blouse and gloves, and black slippers. She wore a white rose corsage.

WHAT MIRACLES CAN BE EXPECTED IN DIAMOND RACE

What miracles—if any—can be expected this baseball season from the clubs that finished seventh and eighth in the American and National League races a year ago? The following article, last in International News Service's series of "last looks" at the forthcoming pennant races, discusses the Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Browns, Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Athletics.

By Charles Einstein (I. N. S. Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Apr. 14 — (INS) — The St. Louis Browns, typical of the four rear-echelon teams in the American and National Leagues last year, did three things: they helped knock the Boston Red Sox out of the race, they did knock the Cleveland Indians out, and they finished seventh.

It used to be that the top teams got ahead by saving their good pitchers and throwing their bums against the tailenders, but that does not figure in 1950. The Browns, though not deep, can belt you pretty good with their front-liners, and the same applies to the Philadelphia Athletics—who finished last behind the Browns in the American League—and the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates, who finished seventh and eighth, respectively, in the National.

It will take a modern miracle to lift any of these customers out of the second division in 1951, but it won't be for lack of trying. At least it better not be. The Athletics, for one, are under the supervision now of Jimmy Dykes, successor to the only other manager they ever had, Connie Mack.

Dykes, in assuming control of the A's, said in passing that one of the reasons they goofed off last year was that they weren't trying.

"They'll try this year," he added, "—or else."

The Browns displayed no such lack of hustle, and they have managed scattered talent on the hoof. Manager Zack Taylor did a good job with a lot of unknown youngsters last year, and there is a chance that the year's experience may have helped the club. Taylor's defense was horrible last year, and his pitching took a while to straighten out. If he can lick that, he can go.

The Athletics are going with pretty much the same club they had in 1950—a club which, by the way, was picked by many to take a run at the pennant. Their pitching, rated fair to good on paper, fell apart. That is what Dykes has to lick this time.

Frankie Frisch, with the Chicago Cubs, has a team that could move upwards. First off, it will have to lick a bad Cub habit—the inability to protect a lead. Pretty good pitching, combined with outfield stars Andy Pafko and Hank Sauer, who hit 68 home runs between them in 1950, should be an asset for any club. Frisch's infield, though, is not the best, and his bench was not strong in 1950.

That leaves Billy Meyer with the Pittsburgh Pirates, newly taken over by that front office star, Branch Rickey. Rickey may take a year or so his wonders to perform, but he hasn't missed out yet. Meanwhile, the Pirates, thinnest in the league on pitchers, can always look to home run king Ralph Kiner. He pulls the crowds.

ICE-FREERS

TOLEDO, O. — (INS) — Glass that gets so hot you could fry a steak on it is being used to provide clear vision through ice-free windshields for jet pilots who help patrol America's shores against enemy attacks. While the military application is the most spectacular, the same special glass serves a similar de-icing role in ships at sea, according to technicians at Libbey-Owens-Ford-Glass Company.

BENSALEM NINE BLANKS DELHAAS, WINNING 12 TO 0

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Apr. 14 — Bensalem Township high won its second straight game yesterday afternoon as it blanked the Delhaas high team, 12-0, on Hensell's field.

Feature of the game was a tremendous clout for a home run with the bases loaded by Bob Whitfield. Whitfield's four-bagger sailed over the centerfielder's head and before the outfielder could reach the ball, the runner had circled the bases to complete his grand slam. The blow came in the sixth inning while Joe Muth was on the mound.

Early in the game, "Al" Bader had connected with one of Jan Gouza's pitches for a home run with two on base to give the Owls a 3-0 lead.

Jack Weaver hurled four innings for the winners with Joe Mikalatis for the last three. Weaver gave up four hits and fanned seven with Mikalatis fanning five and allowing one hit.

This afternoon, Bensalem plays Burlington on the latter's field at two o'clock.

Hirohito to Pay Call on General

anese civic officials were prepared to give MacArthur a public farewell on a scale as large as the welcome he will receive when he reaches San Francisco Tuesday morning.

MacArthur will start his return journey after 15 years' absence from the mainland of the United States at 7 A. M. Monday (5 P. M. Sunday EST). Along with Mrs. MacArthur and their 13-year-old son Arthur—who has never seen America—the former Supreme Allied Commander will take off in the big Constellation he used as his official personal plane. The plane—formerly called SCAP—has been re-christened Bataan in memory of MacArthur's Philippine exploits.

The plane is scheduled to arrive at Honolulu's Hickam field about midnight Sunday—gaining time because of the eastward flight across the international dateline.

The departure from Honolulu had been scheduled for an earlier time but it was decided to delay the final overwater leg of the trip. Under present plans, MacArthur will leave Honolulu around midnight Monday and will arrive in San Francisco between 10 and 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. The party will remain in San Francisco 10 or 12 hours before heading east again.

San Francisco—first mainland city to greet the returning general—made plans for a hero's welcome. In answer to a cable from the Golden Gate City's Mayor Elmer Robinson, MacArthur said he accepted "with pleasure any greeting ceremony which you may feel appropriate."

In Tokyo, general headquarters announced that arrangements have been completed for the farewell to MacArthur at the Haneda airport. Diplomats, staff officers and Japanese officials will line up on the right side of MacArthur's path as he approaches his plane with their wives grouped on the right.

Headquarters explained that lack of space will make it necessary for all newsmen and photographers to remain stationary as MacArthur prepares to leave. All still pictures and movies will be distributed to various agencies on a "pool" basis.

It was also announced that MacArthur will not make any statement at the airport before leaving. General headquarters released a map of the MacArthur party's route from the American Embassy in Tokyo to the airport so newspapers could pass the information on. Japanese have flooded newspaper offices with requests for information as to where they could get a last look at MacArthur.

All American armed services as well as British Commonwealth forces will be represented in the official farewell. Troops will line the roadways to the airport at specified intervals along with Japanese rural police.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Earl H. Tomb, members of the club voted to nominate Mrs. Ann Hawkes Hut-ton, author of "George Washington Crossed Here", and a member of the club, as its candidate for distinguished "Pennsylvania Daughter." A limited number of "distinguished daughters" are to be named as part of "Pennsylvania Week" celebration.

age group being 21 to 55. During balloting for new members, Mrs. Robert W. Braker and Mrs. Robert Wright served in the capacity of tellers. Resignations of two members were received, Mrs. Frederick I. Kraft, who is ill; and Mrs. Howard Thornton, who no longer resides in Bristol.

The speaker scheduled for the meeting, who was to have discussed "Cancer", was unable to attend. Mrs. Goslin called upon Mrs. Harry T. Neher to serve as piano accompanist for the singing of "America".

Announcement was made by Mrs. Richard T. Meyers of a meeting of the literature group to be held next Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Jr., Torresdale.

A covered dish luncheon previous to the meeting provided many delicious dishes.
